"Lessons from the Holocaust: the View of the Third Generation"

Oscar Bregman Memorial Program

On Yom Kippur Day

Saturday, October 8, 2011

2:30—4 pm

Join us for a panel discussion confronting the past so we can deepen our engagement today with
Leah Lande - a third generation Holocaust Survivor
ARSP volunteer - a third generation German and
Douglas Porpora - Professor of Sociology at Drexel who will discuss societal indifference to suffering during the Holocaust and lessons we have learned since

*At its onset, the mission of ARSP was to volunteer in countries affected by World War II and to work with the peoples who suffered during the Nazi regime. The founders of ARSP called upon young Germans to work for peace through social services in these countries as a sign of atonement.

The mission has evolved. It now includes learning from Germany's history, taking a stand against racism and hatred today, and creating a positive future for everyone. We believe that by acknowledging the past and learning from our history we can work for a better world.

ARSP's mission is accomplished through long-term and short-term volunteer programs. An ARSP volunteer works with NPIHN each year. NPIHN is the Northwest Philadelphia Interfaith Hospitality Network, the umbrella organization that coordinates the hospitality network for the homeless in which GJC participates. NPIHN is directed by GJC member Rachel Falkove.
